Hon. I. Tokugawa Reviews International Problems Before Canadian Club

Japan Recognizes That B.C. Holds Key to Relations With Canada

The importance of looking forward internationally, the value of agreements such as that for the renunciation of war, the necessity for toleration between nations and recognition that British Columbia holds the key to relations between Canada and Japan, and thereby in the most important province in the Dominion from the Japanese point of view, featured a splendid address given this afternoon by Hon. Iyemasa Tokugawa, Minister from Japan to Canada, before the Victoria Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel.

P. B. Fowler, president, occupied the chair. Introducing the guest of honor, Mr. Fowler pointed out the great importance of Japan in the history of North America, as it was a desire to establish a westward route to Japan which caused Columbus to undertake his historic voyage. Canadian exports to Japan to-day greatly exceeded imports from the island empire, a condition which must inevitably be brought more in balance. Seventy years ago the ports of Japan were closed to world commerce, in which the Empire's share was now of great importance.

Mr. Fowler referred to the great contribution made by Japan in 1914 towards the protection of this coast from attack. EVERLASTING PEACE. Mr. Tokugawa expressed appreciation of the opportunity of addressing the Victoria Canadian Club and said he (Concluded on Page 14)

AUSTRALIA'S NEW TARIFF STRIKES AT EMPIRE TRADE

Sir Reginald Tuck Says Will Affect Trade of Britain and Canada

Director of Famous Art Publishing House to Stay at Lake Louise

Australia's new tariff schedule, which imposes further duties on undressed timber, woolen goods, wireless appliances, leather goods and car accessories will seriously affect inter-empire trade, according to Sir Reginald Tuck, director of Raphael Tuck and Sons Limited, the famous art publishers of London, who reached the city to-day on the Niagara from Sydney. Sir Reginald stated that he left London with Lady Tuck last March with the intention of looking into the trade situation in Australasia. As the result of his investigations he is inclined to be a little pessimistic, although he emphasized that another "three years would see Australia in a prosperous state once more." He believed that Australia's tariff policy would be detrimental to the interests of Great Britain and also Canada. (Concluded on Page 14)

AWARDS GIVEN STUDENTS OF OAK BAY HIGH

Gwladys Downes, Daughter of Former Principal, Gains Highest Honors

Winners of Prizes Throughout Year Receive Awards at Presentation Yesterday

Gwladys Downes, sixteen-year-old daughter of the late Gordon Downes, former principal of Oak Bay High School, gained highest honors in scholarship open to pupils of that institution. It was revealed in the prize list at the school's presentation exercises yesterday. The young student not only topped the school, with an average of eighty-eight per cent in all subjects, but also led the students in English, Mathematics, Latin and Chemistry. However, according to the school regulations she was only able to accept the prize for leading the matriculation class and the English group. The other awards went by reversion to the students next in rank. John Grant led the boys in Grade XI with an excellent total. He also won the history award. In the second year, Katherine Youldall took first honors with eighty-five per cent, with Jack Fox and Kenneth Stevens leading their respective divisions. Harold Horne was highest in the preliminary year, with Joan Hope leading the girls' section of the same grade. Donald McEure and Nancy Boyd were first in the second and first year commercial courses respectively. (Concluded on Page 14)

ADDRESS BY THE REV. DR. CAMPBELL. During the afternoon, F. P. Curtis, for many years identified with the school through the board of trustees and one of its most enthusiastic supporters, spoke to the gathering. He referred to the traditions of the institution and spoke highly of the record it had maintained. In conclusion he expressed the hope that the new school grounds would be put into shape for the different sports and would be in order for next term. (Concluded on Page 14)

COL. SCLATER ARRIVES HERE BY NIAGARA

Will Make Pilgrimage to Menin Gate in Memory of Son Lost in Great War

Lieut.-Col. James Sclater, D.S.O., Australian representative of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company with headquarters at Sydney, N.S.W., and former British Columbia Commissioner for British Columbia, reached Victoria to-day on board the liner Niagara from the South Sea. The Colonel was greeted by a large number of old friends as the steamer berthed at the Riths docks early today. He is accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. A. A. Harvey. Regret was expressed by Col. Sclater that he was unable to stay over at Victoria to see more of his many friends here because of his transportation arrangements, but he said he would return for a longer stay in September, on his way back to Australia from Europe. Dr. Campbell was born in Argyleshire, Scotland, in 1845. His father was a relative of Sir Colin Campbell, who won immortal distinction through his bravery in connection with the relief of Lucknow. His mother was Margaret Anderson, relative of Sir John Dick of Glasgow. About the year 1851 the parents came to Canada, and settled in the township of Norrawasago, county of Simcoe, Ont. Here the boyhood days of John Campbell were spent, and after passing through the public school at Stayner, he attended the Collegiate Institute in Toronto. Later he entered Glasgow. Segrave's Speed of 98.7 Miles Recognized As World Water Mark

London, June 20.—The International Motor Union to-day officially confirmed the speed attained by the late Major Sir Henry Segrave at Lake Windermere, just before an accident cost his life, as the world's unlimited water record. The speed confirmed was 85.7 nautical miles an hour, or 98.7 miles an hour. Confirmation of Segrave's water record made the late British sportsman holder of the two major speed records of the world, as in 1928 he established the high mark for automobiles of 231 miles-an-hour over the sands of Florida. After setting up a new record for automobiles Segrave retired from this field and took up motorboat racing. It was while preparing for the Harmsworth Trophy race at Detroit this year that Segrave set the new water record, although he lost his life shortly after establishing the new mark with his creation, Miss England II. United Farmers Re-elected In Alberta—Conservatives Again Win New Brunswick

Uncompleted Returns Point to 39 Seats Out of 63 for Premier Brownlee in Alberta House; Baxter Has 31 of 48 Seats in New Brunswick Legislature.

Canadian Press
Calgary, June 20.—Standing of parties as far as returns were completed this afternoon in the Alberta provincial election were as follows:
Elected—United Farmers of Alberta (Government) 38, Liberal 7, Conservative 4, Labor 3, Independent 3.
Leading—United Farmers of Alberta 3, Liberal 4, Conservative 2, Labor 1, Independent 1. Total 63.

Saint John, N.B., June 20.—Endorsement of the Baxter Government's administration of New Brunswick's provincial affairs was written into the political record of the province yesterday in decisive terms. Climaxing a short but crowded campaign with the irrefutable argument of ballot, the electors journeyed to the polls to return thirty-one of the administration's representatives to power, while the forces of the Liberal opposition succeeded in consolidating a gain of six seats over the total of eleven which was their total in the last legislature.

REV. DR. CAMPBELL DIES IN HIS SLEEP

Pioneer Minister of City Passed Away This Morning Aged Eighty-five

The British Columbia Ministry lost one of its most picturesque, pioneer figures, and Victoria one of its best-known citizens, in the death this morning of Rev. Dr. Campbell, M.A., Ph.D., who passed away in his sleep at 1:30 o'clock, at his residence, "Broadbent," Windsor Road, in his eighty-fifth year. The venerable minister joined the Presbyterian Ministry in 1874, and retired in 1912, but remained amazingly alert and active until within a few months of his death. His residence, "Broadbent," first at Fort Street, and latterly at Windsor Road, was the Mecca of many young couples seeking to wed, and earned the local name of "The Little Church Around the Corner," owing to his having united over 5,000 couples in marriage within its portals. The late Dr. Campbell is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. J. A. Walker, who is at present visiting in Scotland, and four sons, J. A. Forth Campbell, who is on a survey in the Peace River district; Walter, at home; Douglas, in San Francisco, and Gordon of Port Alberni. The funeral arrangements will be made later. For sixteen years, Dr. Campbell was honorary chaplain to H.M. forces. Dr. Campbell was born in Argyleshire, Scotland, in 1845. His father was a relative of Sir Colin Campbell, who won immortal distinction through his bravery in connection with the relief of Lucknow. His mother was Margaret Anderson, relative of Sir John Dick of Glasgow. About the year 1851 the parents came to Canada, and settled in the township of Norrawasago, county of Simcoe, Ont. HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER BLAMED IN CAR DEATH

Coroner's Jury Returns Manslaughter Verdict in Louis Jackson Case

Identity of Motorist Still Not Known; Broken Headlight Glass Is Evidence

A coroner's jury to-day returned a verdict of manslaughter against the unknown driver of the automobile which caused the death of Louis Jackson at Bay and Turner streets on the night of June 17. Police are still searching for the hit-and-run driver, but the lack of clues has made apprehension difficult. Testifying this morning before Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart, Dr. John Moore and Dr. McKicking, ascribed the death to concussion of the brain, together with a slight hemorrhage and the accompanying shock to the system caused by the impact of a heavy body. Dr. McKicking told of seeing Jackson at the Jubilee Hospital in an unconscious condition at 11:45 o'clock on the night of the accident and attending him on the following morning before his death about noon. He described the injuries at length and stated that the deceased did not regain consciousness before his death. Dr. Moore told of the results of the postmortem he conducted and concurred with Dr. McKicking as to the cause of the death. CONDUCTOR'S TESTIMONY. John Croft, a street car operator, said that he was proceeding to town on his car at 11:28 o'clock when he was stopped in front of the Victoria Machinery Depot by a man who stated there had been an accident and asked him to come to the corner of Bay and Turner. Croft said that they found (Concluded on Page 14)

The Kurds, although Aryans in extraction, are Mohammedan in creed. They have quasi-independence under their chiefs and are noted for their robberies.

CLOUGH JURY DISCHARGED ON DISAGREEMENT

Defence Pleads Ignorance That Cheque Was Bad

Crown Witness, Lanchick, Tells of Forging Cheque Cashed by Accused

Inability to agree upon a verdict was reported to Mr. Justice Gregory yesterday evening by the assize jury which tried Harry Clough on a charge of uttering a cheque he knew to be forged. The jurymen were discharged at 8 o'clock, having been locked up since 5:30 o'clock, and Clough was remanded in custody, to be retried with another jury.

Evidence was presented by the Crown, and not contested, to show the accused had obtained cash on May 31 from Arthur Brookman of Craigflower for a bearer cheque for $21.90, purporting to be issued by W. Thompson in settlement of wages and endorsed on the back "Frank Smith." The prosecution was conducted by A. M. Johnson, K.C., and the defence by R. D. Harvey.

Witnesses presented by the Crown included A. Brookman, who cashed the cheque; E. B. Thomson, manager of the Victoria Wood and Coal Co., who denied the accused had been in his employment; S. A. Heron, who testified to the lack of an account for W. Thompson on the books of the Imperial Bank of Canada; and John Lanchick, who admitted forging the cheque to the dictation of the accused.

KNOWLEDGE DENIED
Clough took the stand in his own defence, stating that he had not known the cheque to be forged, having received it from Lanchick, who had either made the cheque out while the witness was absent from his room or had brought it with him when visiting the room occupied by the witness.

Under cross-examination Clough admitted having spent $30 on motorcycle and car hire over the week-end, that he had not given Lanchick any of the money received for the cheque, that he had been previously convicted of the same and was on suspended sentence.

After brief addresses by counsel and the court, the jury retired at 5:30 o'clock, returning at 8 o'clock for instruction as to the knowledge by the accused that the cheque was forged.

WOMAN DEFEATED
Mrs. J. W. Field, only woman besides Mrs. Parby in the field of 140 candidates, was defeated in the North Grouse. The former vice-president of United Farm Women of Alberta lost to L. A. Giroux, Liberal, who had represented the sea in the last House. With returns from isolated polls still drifting in, victory was conceded to Giroux by some 150 votes.

Communists fared ill in the allocation of seats for the next session. John Sullivan, who ran in both Drumheller and Calgary, was at the bottom of the four-man list in the coal town, and twelfth among Calgary's thirteen candidates. In Rock Mountain, Richard Sudworth bore the red banner last in a three-man parade, led by an Independent.

Independents, who nominated twenty-four candidates in all, are assured of victory in only two constituencies. C. E. Cruikshank won the tri-partite tilt in Rocky Mountain, listing a gain from Labor's total; in Bow Valley, formerly represented by Liberal Leader Shaw, J. McIntosh counted a win over U.F.A. nominees.

Saint John, N.B., June 20. (By the Canadian Press)—Entrusted again for five years with the administration of the legislative affairs of New Brunswick, Dr. B. H. Baxter, returned to Fredericton for the next session of the Legislature with thirty-one followers out of a total of forty-eight seats. The opposition party which was led by Woodstock another experienced parliamentarian recently returned to public life, won seventeen seats.

Six of these were straight gains, four in Northumberland County and two in Albert. They entailed the defeat of the Speaker of the Legislature, Hon. J. Leonard O'Brien, and Hon. Lewis Smith, Minister of Agriculture. Among the casualties on the opposition side was Mr. Jones himself, who was outvoted in his own constituency.

Premier Baxter, in a statement, said the protest against the proposed Government Liquor Control Legislation had been effectively answered. He considered the return of thirty-one of his candidates a definite mandate to proceed with his programme of policies.

Mr. Jones deferred his statement until all returns were checked.

The New Brunswick campaign was short but strenuous. Inaugurated less than a month ago, it went down to defeat in his home county of Carlton. A. A. Dyar, opposition leader in the last legislature, was re-elected with his running mates in Kent County.

The only member of the government to meet defeat was Hon. Lewis Smith, Minister of Agriculture, who lost by a majority of 150 votes in Albert County where the opposition made two of their six gains, the other majorities being returned by those parties in Northumberland.

It was the fifteenth election since Confederation, and the first since Premier Baxter became head of the government.

BANDITS RAID SEATTLE BANK

Line Up Workers Against Wall and Escape With $7,000

Seattle, June 20.—Holding officers of the bank away with pistols, four masked men robbed the First Security Bank of between $6,000 and $7,000 in cash shortly after the bank opened today.

The bandits lined five employees up against the wall and searched for the money themselves. They rifled three of the four cash drawers behind the counter, overlooking a fourth containing several thousand dollars in their haste to flee.

After looting the drawers the hold-ups forced Cashier R. M. Lee and Teller Leonard Huntton to open the vaults and currency compartments of the safe, and then backing out of the bank they escaped in an automobile.

The automobile was rented from a Seattle "drive-it-yourself" garage by a man who gave the name of Leo Clark. It was traced by the license number.

Garage attendants said "Clark" was about twenty-four years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall and wore a dark suit.

Although police arrived a few minutes after the holdup they found no trace of the car or the robbers.

PLANS FOR CANADA FLIGHT OF R-100 CARRIED FORWARD

Canadian Press
London, June 20.—There has been no change in the arrangements for the flight of the British dirigible R-100 to Canada. The Air Ministry yesterday emphatically denied a report that the sister ship, R-101, would make the trip. "The suggestion has never arisen," it was stated.

Montreal, June 20.—Lieut.-Commander M. O. Atherton, chief officer of the British dirigible R-101, who came to Canada a month ago in charge of a party of dirigible almona to form the nucleus of a ground crew at the St. Hubert airport in preparation for the arrival of the R-100, expects to leave for England to-day, but the other members of his party are to remain in Canada.

Commander Atherton would not give any reason for his sudden departure.

CONSERVATIVES OF TORONTO IN FAMILY ROW

Association President Challenges Church for Federal Nomination

Toronto, Ont., June 20.—Rumors of a storm in Northwest Toronto political circles became an actuality last night when T. Church, K.C., Conservative member in the last House for the constituency, commenced his pre-convention campaign for renomination.

It is expected that John R. MacNicol, president of the Ontario Conservative Association, will be the former mayor's rival for honors at the forthcoming Conservative convention, and last night Mr. Church declared at a meeting of Ward Four Conservatives that if he did not beat Mr. MacNicol he would run as an Independent-Conservative.

"I am in the fight anyway," he asserted.

In his address last night, Mr. Church declared the Ontario Government was "part and parcel" of the Beaulieu Power Corporation, and asserted that because of his fight against the power company in the House of Commons he "was told that they would 'get me' in Northwest Toronto."

Mr. Church attacked Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, who he said told a person yesterday "I had no chance in Northwest Toronto." Declaring Price had been no friend of public ownership and had opposed the late Sir Adam's plan, Mr. Church said: "If he has this riding in his vest pocket, let him call a candidate without calling a convention. What is the use of calling a convention?"

Vociferous cheering and frequent cries of "we want Tommy Church," greeted the speaker, who was seven times elected mayor of Toronto.

MANIAC KILLER MURDERS TWO

New York Police Seek Man Who Escaped From State Asylum

New York, June 20.—Detectives investigating the murder by a maniac of two men in Queens, began a hunt to-day, for Joseph Ustica, who escaped a month ago, from the Kings Park State Asylum for the insane at East Islip, L.I.

He is the killer of William Gilbride, Brooklyn contractor, slain in 1928. The slaying of Gilbride at Freeport, L.I., took place under circumstances similar to the murders of Joseph Moynihan and Noel Sowley, both of College Point, Queens, within the last week.

Revelation that Ustica suffered under the delusion that there were papers which he had to recover at all costs and that he had a mission in life to protect United States womanhood, strengthened belief of authorities that they were on the right track.

After slaying Gilbride, Ustica shared the dead man's money with Antony D'Apollito, and had taken the victim's body away in his automobile.

The College Point slayer has sent notes demanding mysterious papers. Photographs of Ustica were shown to Betty Ring and Catharine May, companions of the College Point man when they were slain, but they could not be certain of their identification.

Rain Helps Crops Of Western Canada

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 20.—The decline in the general conditions of the western crop has been halted by the rain which began on June 11, states the crop report issued yesterday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

In Manitoba, the report adds, and in other sections of the province, moisture is only sufficient for present need. In the important wheat areas, where drought and wind damage has been most severe, there is urgent need of more rain.

EIGHT KILLED IN ACCIDENTS

Crossing Accident, Collision and Volt Line Cause Ontario Deaths

Canadian Press
Toronto, Ont., June 20.—Three mishaps in widely separated parts of Ontario were responsible for the loss of eight lives yesterday. A level crossing accident accounted for three deaths near St. Thomas, three men were electrocuted near Thorold, and two were killed in an automobile collision near Peterboro.

Morris Elson of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Able Leekman of Detroit, were killed, and Gertrude Swazenger, of St. Clair, Mich., seriously injured when the automobile in which they were traveling from Detroit to New York was struck by a Pere Marquette Railway train at a grade crossing ten miles west of St. Thomas, near Shedd, on No. 3 Highway. The visibility of the driver is believed to have been impaired by a heavy rain.

A heavy wind, which blew an extension ladder against a 22,000 volt line near a bridge adjacent to the plant of the Ontario Paper Company at Thorold, was responsible for the loss of the lives of three men. They were Edward Smith, twenty-eight, and Lloyd Tice, twenty-five, both of Fontenac, Ont., and Sheldene, Ontario, twenty-seven, of Welland. They died this afternoon after all modern apparatus, including pulleys, had been used by workmen and doctors to resuscitate them. Employed by the electrical department of the New Welland Ship Canal, the men were raising the extension ladder at the open air control system which supplied electric power on No. 9 bridge and adjacent locks, when the centre of the ladder was blown against the hydro-electric tower. The shock throwing the men to the ground unconscious.

A. W. Peterson and James J. Grier of Toronto, were killed when the automobile in which they were riding, collided with a transport truck driven by Percy Campbell of Bewdley, seven miles from Peterboro. Campbell was slightly injured.

HONOR MEMORY OF FRANKLIN

Public Subscription to Erect $5,000,000 Building in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, June 20.—A great memorial is to be erected here in honor of Benjamin Franklin.

More than $5,000,000 for the purpose has been raised by public subscription and ground has been broken for the stately building, which will occupy nearly three acres on the parkway leased from the city for ninety-nine years at $1 a year. The structure will house many evidences of Franklin's greatness, and exhibits of the progress of the nation in mechanical arts and sciences.

It will be known as the Franklin memorial and Franklin institute museum, and will be modeled after the great Deutsches museum at Munich. The plans call for its completion in the spring of 1932.

Australian Tariffs Show Big Increase

Canberra, Australia, June 20.—A new customs schedule introduced in the House of Representatives to-day increases the duties on 113 lines of goods and lowers them on eight.

The general tariff is increased by forty per cent. Substantial rises are made on radio sets, phonographs and records and many automobile parts. Other increases affect iron and steel sheets, machinery, commercial chemicals and rice.

Believe Negroes In U.S. Still Slaves

Zutsumi, June 20.—A speaker at the International Labor Conference yesterday referred to the United States, though without mentioning it by name as a country in which between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 negroes live "in a state akin to slavery."

Dr. A. L. L. French, French employer delegate, said that a great number of these negroes each year were victims of lynching and suggested that it was an almost hopeless task to seek abolition of an international convention for the abolition of forced labor when the United States was not represented.

This year France will have 1,310 first line airplanes, Italy 1,100, the United States 950, and Great Britain 780.

THAT COURT HOUSE AGAIN!

IF A GRAND JURY SHOULD AT ANY time omit to tell the presiding judge at the assizes in Victoria that the Court House on Bastion Street is a disgrace to the capital city of this province, not to mention the inconvenience to which those who use the building are continually subjected, we should be inclined to think that something had gone radically wrong. It was not surprising, therefore, that this hardy annual was revived on Wednesday, when the usual presentation was made to Mr. Justice Gregory.

One of these days, perhaps, the provincial government will make up its mind to give this city a Court House of such dignified proportions as the seat of government should be permitted to command. It may not be out of place, incidentally, to quote a former Grand Jury's recommendation, which reads as follows:

"We consider it not in harmony with our present standards of government, nor in conformity with the dignity of the administration of our laws, either in this Province or the Dominion of Canada, that the Court House building is a firetrap, exposing the valuable law records and libraries to destruction."

"The accommodation reserved for witnesses is a flagrant disgrace, conditions existing which should not be tolerated by a health officer."

"The interior of the building presents an antiquated appearance not in keeping with modern requirements."

"We are confident the interests of the public are jeopardized by the fact that 300 (more or less) recording ledgers, covering the titles to the extent of possibly some 50,000 properties on Vancouver Island and a portion of the mainland, have to be left out on the desks of the general office both day and night; these cover property valued at many millions."

"We consider that vault accommodation should be provided to adequately take care of all deed registers."

"With reference to the foregoing, while similar recommendations have been presented for many years, we very much regret that no action has yet been taken, and we trust that in view of the very pressing need something will immediately be done to relieve the situation."

As members of the legal profession have emphasized many times, the present building on Bastion Street is totally inadequate for the needs of this branch of the public service. Surely this is a matter of sufficient importance to warrant the provincial government taking action at once.

NOT A PARTY MATTER

GREAT BRITAIN'S UNEMPLOYMENT problem, acute since the war, appears to be no nearer solution now than it did when statistics concerning it first were made public.

Neither the Bonar Law nor the Baldwin government seemed to be able to discover a solution. Very little help for the idle was forthcoming during the short existence of the MacDonald government in 1924. When Mr. Baldwin was re-elected to power in the late fall of the same year, with a house majority of 220, it was generally expected, however, that at least some policy would be inaugurated which would provide more work. But, with certain fluctuations, the number of unemployed when the Conservatives met defeat last summer had changed but little.

The paramount issue in the 1929 campaign, as is well remembered, was that of unemployment, each political party appealing for support on the strength of its promise to cure the prevailing economic depression. Mr. Baldwin promised nothing spectacular—he suggested the country should "keep cool" with him. Mr. MacDonald felt he had the key to the problem. Mr. Lloyd George promised ambitious schemes. The situation now, however, is worse than it has been for several years. Something like 1,600,000 persons are out of work.

Mr. MacDonald has invited Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Lloyd George to assist him to find ways and means to improve matters. Mr. Baldwin has refused on the ground that no such conference will accomplish anything practical unless the principle of safeguarding the key industries shall be accepted as the basic policy to be followed. Mr. Lloyd George, however, is ready to co-operate.

Unquestionably the people of the British Isles realize that unemployment is no longer a matter to be considered from the party standpoint, no longer a problem susceptible of solution by any political formula, but a matter entirely for the trained mind and the economic and industrial expert.

POLITICS AND WHEAT

THE TORONTO TELEGRAM, ONE OF Canada's most ardent Conservative newspapers, published an editorial the other day which was a staunch defence of the policies of the Liberal government. It is worth quoting in full:

"What a pity it is that the coming federal election will not answer the question 'What shall we do with our wheat?' Seeding in the west has just been finished, and the acreage under wheat will be just about the same as last year. But the additional moisture that was needed to produce a good crop has come and the yield promises to be much larger than in 1929. But prospects for crops in the United States are also good. All of which seems to point to more and yet more wheat, while the markets which have been the crying need of the past year show no signs of getting better."

"Canada will have to hold over a very considerable portion of the 1929 crop. With another good crop coming along the hold-over next year may be still greater."

"Where is it all going to stop?"

"The answer to this question is still more important than who is going to form the next government at Ottawa."

The Telegram has been telling the people of Canada for years that their only means of economic salvation is a tariff high enough to exclude foreign goods from our markets. Now it says that the vital problem is to find markets for our wheat. That is what the present Liberal government and all other Liberal governments have recognized for the last half century. But we cannot find markets for our wheat if we are going to exclude all foreign goods from our own markets. We cannot sell our wheat to foreign nations if we do not buy a reasonable quantity of their products in return. If anyone doubted that fact before, the present situation in the United States should convince him.

Our neighbor has been selling its goods in almost every foreign country, and has lately erected a tariff to keep out the goods of those countries. This would have been a splendid arrangement for the United States if it had worked, but it has not. Foreign nations, like Canada, unable to sell in the United States market, have gradually closed their markets to the United States. The United States to-day is experiencing a serious business slump, and throughout the nation there is a demand that the recent orgies of tariff making shall cease.

Canada's greatest single commodity is wheat. Some day this may not be so; at present our principal aim is to market our wheat abroad. For we cannot eat it all ourselves. Wheat markets are sensitive, as the events of the last year have shown. If Canada antagonizes them by artificial formulas they will buy elsewhere, even if they have to take a lower quality. A reasonable tariff policy, like that of the Liberal government, with a preference for our own kin in the Old Land, is the only safe one for Canada at this time.

KEEPING THE BOYS AT HOME

AT THE RECENT ANNUAL MEETING of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Toronto, its Technical Service Council, which co-operates between industry and education to place graduates of Canadian universities in good positions in Canada, presented its report.

It pointed out that up to 1925, twenty-seven per cent of the graduating class in science at the University of Toronto found it necessary to leave Canada to find employment elsewhere. Last year, only three per cent of the graduates were not placed in Canada, and the number of returning Canadian students placed in positions here more than offset the number that left Canada to find work, or for other reasons.

Economic policy is not only keeping the boys at home, but bringing the old boys back.

NO COMFORT FOR MR. BENNETT

IF MR. BENNETT HOPED TO EXTRACT any encouragement from the result of the provincial elections in Alberta and New Brunswick, he has discovered this morning that the two verdicts have furnished him with no platform material whatever.

Six Liberal gains in New Brunswick will strengthen the opposition from eleven in the last House to seventeen in the new one, the total membership being forty-eight.

The most interesting issue of the campaign quite obviously was the liquor question. Government control was inaugurated in the province in 1927; but the Liberal party promised the voters that, if elected, it would submit a plebiscite in regard to certain points in the law. Since the Act is but two years old, however, it was hardly likely that any proposal to tamper with it so soon would prove popular.

In the next Legislature in Alberta—increased from a membership of sixty to one of sixty-three—Premier Brownlee's supporters will number four or five less than at dissolution; but with a following of between thirty-five and forty the United Farmer Party will continue secure in power.

The test in Alberta will be far from discouraging to Premier King. Mr. Brownlee's victory, if it means nothing else, is an indication that the low tariff element still is able to command all the support it requires. This, incidentally, in Mr. Bennett's own province.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

R-100 A PIONEER
The Canadian Aviation

In fairness to the ship and its designers, it is only right to make a distinction between the R-100 and any ship which may follow in the immediate future. R-100 is the first ship of her type—the first airship that has ever been designed for world operation, with especial reference to the need for rapid communication throughout the Empire. The first function of the R-100 is to prove that these services are a technical possibility by demonstration flights. In the course of these flights difficulties will arise which could not be foreseen during construction; such incidents are inevitable in the development of any vehicle. There can be no doubt, however, that a great part of these expectations will be realized, and that the technical possibility of operating airships on intra-empire and world-wide routes will be established.

It is probably because this first Atlantic crossing of the R-100 is of a technical nature that the British Air Ministry is prohibiting the carrying of passengers on the westward trip. There is a possibility of passengers being taken on the return journey, and if so, the demand for passages is going to be difficult to satisfy.

U.S.A. AND THE PHILIPPINES
The Washington Post

It is idle to argue that the Philippines should be taken at their word and subjected to an "act test of trial independence." The interests of the United States, as well as the interests of the Philippines, are involved in this question. The United States would be foolish, indeed, to subject its relations in the Far East to the ignorant and irresponsible direction of Filipinos experimenting with government.

$1,000 A DAY
The Philadelphia Ledger

(Demurrage charges at the rate of $1,000 a day will be charged the Graf Zeppelin for every day she is behind schedule arriving at Lakehurst.) The schedule of charges was arranged specially for this trip of the Graf Zeppelin. Besides the pre-arrival demurrage, there will be a $3,000 fee for preparing for the big ship's arrival at Lakehurst, and refueling will cost $2,000 a day besides the cost of the fuel. After fueling is completed, $1,000 a day will be charged for whatever time the Zeppelin's take-off is delayed by adverse weather. Thus the profits of the voyage can be largely diminished by a few days of high winds or rain next week. Heretofore the Zeppelin has been entertained free of charge at Lakehurst. The first strictly commercial trip, with commercial charges, will give a good idea of the real cost of lighter-than-air transportation, a cost vastly under-estimated by laymen in the past.

HOW PROTECTION WORKS

To the Editor:—It is astonishing the number of current protectionist phrases which are accepted by the public at face value, yet when examined are found to be the most glaring absurdities. Take the balance of trade theory for instance. It is confidently believed that the more wealth a country gets rid of, and the less it gets back, the better off it is. This is spoken of as a "favorable balance of trade," and important reasoning is built up on the strength of it.

Now, take a business man or a farmer, does he rejoice over an excess of output over income? No. The excess of his imports over his exports is what he lives on and profits by. You can't fool him about his private affairs. But it seems that he is an easier mark in affairs of the nation. The protectionist orator personifies the nation and infers that the nation trades. Nations do not trade. It is only individuals or corporations (associations of individuals) that trade. What is true, then, of the individual must be true of the aggregation of individuals called the nation. It follows that the excess value of goods imported into a country over the goods exported is the profit of the trading and, contrary to the current theory, constitutes a favorable balance of trade. It goes without saying that the nations (or rather the individuals comprising the nations) you trade with also make a profit, else they would not trade with you. This is explained by the fact that goods flow from where they are less desirable to where they are more desirable. To other words, from where they are relatively cheap, to where they are relatively dear. You will often read in the paper a rather superfluous statement about such and such a deal, that the price was satisfactory to both parties. It has, of course, to be so, otherwise there would be no deal.

It appears that outside capital to the amount of about $5,000,000,000 (over and above what Canadians have invested) is invested in Canada. The interest on that amount goes out in the form of goods and, especially where the investment was made in natural resources when values were low and are now high, it is largely tribute. Hardly a thing to rejoice over as a favorable balance of trade.

When England was waxing fat, and rich and great, she had what we are told was an adverse balance of trade. She was actually importing more than she was exporting.

When Rome was mistress of the world and was exacting endless tribute from Gaul, Britain and other outside barbarian provinces, she had an adverse balance of trade. No Mr. Bennett, to tell her about it. No wonder she declined and fell.

Another favorite protectionist phrase is "draining money out of the country."

Our good Canadian dollars mustn't go abroad to Kansas, or Timbuctoo. What proof is there that our money, except a handful or so of "chicken feed," goes out of the country? In the last analysis all trade is barter, goods go to pay for goods; but the fact that values are counter in money is no proof that money is shipped back and forth. Drafts, letters of credit, money orders, etc., are handed over and cancel each other. Even in international trading the great bulk of business is done now without the actual use of money. Cheques are made out and credit transferred from bank to bank in ledgers.

If we sell more to Australia than we buy from her, Australia sells to the United States or Great Britain and we get our return goods through a third party. When a few of our paper dollars, which are really only promises to pay, stray across to another country they generally pass at par so long as we have plenty of goods ready for export to redeem them. It is goods that constitute wealth, not dollars. Even gold is a commodity and is valued by weight, not by coinage, when shipped from one country to another. If one country produces gold but no coal and another produces coal but no gold, they are both enriched by trading with each other. Gold is not necessarily money; what makes it appear to be money is the gold-standard set up by governments as a convenience.

The draining of money out of the country has no foundation in fact. It is an absolute myth. But the draining away of goods as tribute is quite common and often hailed as a favorable balance of trade and an evidence of prosperity. The progressive, prosperous and wealthy nations are the trading nations; and, as I have shown above, it is impossible to export without importing. Other countries don't want our money they want our products.

We have abundance of natural wealth ready for the taking: Flax, timber, wheat, minerals, etc. Other countries can produce ships (look at the magnificent fleets of the C.P.R. and C.N.R.), locomotives and a variety of machinery and other things cheaper than we can. Trading is of mutual advantage and brings understanding and goodwill. Why tamper with it? Man can only do harm by interfering with natural laws.

The effect of a high tariff on a shipload of goods would be precisely the same to the consumer about the ship as the effect of a high tariff on a shipload of goods would be to the consumer of the goods. Consider the stupid and wasteful folly of it! Mr. Cregar has aptly called it "economic lunacy."

It is just what Henry Ford is reported to have called it: "A device whereby money is taken out of the pockets of some people and put into the pockets of others." A protective tariff is of all evil tames the most vicious, as it takes many dollars out of the consumer's pocket for every dollar it puts into the public treasury.

The real issue at the forthcoming election is whether or not the electors wish the already high cost of living to be still further increased. Will they be foolish enough to vote for that? I know not.

THE LOAF AGAIN

To the Editor:—Now that wheat has been established below the $1 mark, no commission inquiries are necessary. Will Mr. Baker, Mr. Miller or Mr. Combs please tell the public, before they lose their patience, why we are paying for three loaves and getting two?

THE PLUMBING BY-LAW

To the Editor:—Will you kindly allow me a small space in your valuable paper to inform those of our citizens who are not aware of a by-law the plumbers of Victoria are trying to pass, and which, if passed will force everyone to employ a plumber to install their kitchen boiler and range (at their own rates, time and a half on Saturdays).

We, the stove people have been doing this work for a great number of years, some of us are engineers with certificates and a life-time experience and are quite capable of carrying on this work satisfactorily and stick to our own trade, but the plumbers are not satisfied with their own work, but are trying to monopolize the stove and furnace work now, for which they are not fitted.

We cannot see why this work should be taken from us without some good reason, and why people's choice of their workmen are forced on them along with their high rates.

ONE OF THE STOVEMEN.

Inviting Seat

Do try to have a place outside that invites you to come into the open. It may be a comfortable chair on the porch, a shady nook in an arbor, a swing that moves gently while you shell peas, darn the stockings, or peel potatoes. Such a lure can take you into the open at least two hours daily, which will aid both your health and your disposition.

ST. LOUIS OPENS GREAT CIVIC MUSIC THEATRE

Seven Thousand at First Performance in $275,000 Playhouse

"Nina Rosa," Sigmund Romberg's Latest Opus, Scores Triumph

By SAMUEL CHOTZINOFF

St. Louis, June 21.—The now celebrated spirit of St. Louis, which provided Lindbergh with an airplane and pocket money for his New York-to-Paris flight, has turned to musical comedy, causing 7,000 St. Louisans to assemble at the giant Municipal Theatre for the opening performance of "Nina Rosa," the theatre's first production in a promised season of twelve weeks.

The Municipal Theatre Association, you may know, came into being twelve years ago as an organization whose purpose was to give St. Louis musical plays and operettas at a cost that would insure quality but no profits. To that end the city donated the use of Forest Park, and a group of solvent music lovers pledged itself to build an open-air theatre and underwrite whatever losses the entire venture might entail. These public-spirited citizens must have counted heavily on their city's aforementioned spirit, for not only were they not called upon to make up deficits but the profits were considerable enough to enable the theatre association to make each season bigger and better than the preceding one.

BRITISH TOMMIES FACE HUMAN WALL IN BOMBAY RIOT

$275,000 PLAYHOUSE

In fact, "Nina Rosa" was played on a new steel and bronze revolving stage said to be the biggest and the best in the world. There was also a new lighting system, likewise said to be the best in the world. It bathed the actors with light from six directions. All the improvements this year have cost more than $25,000, an expenditure which brings the value of the playhouse to about $275,000, exclusive of the cost of the grounds.

The dozen fortunate offerings are "Nina Rosa," "The Circus Princess," "The Desert Song," "The New Moon," "Blossom Time," "Alone at Last," "The Red, Robe," "Maytime," "Madame Pompadour," "Show Boat," and two others not yet announced. In past years the association also attempted grand opera, with one performance of "Aida."

St. Louisans are congratulating themselves on having captured "Nina Rosa" for their theatre's opening bill, for "Nina Rosa" is Mr. Sigmund Romberg's very latest opus (book by Otto Harbach and lyrics by Irving Caesar), a music-drama that is yet to be unveiled in New York under the aegis of the Shubert, though Chicago saw it last winter and took it to its bosom.

PIECE HAS ATMOSPHERE

The story of "Nina Rosa" is the one about the lovely daughter of a Spanish don who inherits a gold mine in the Andes from her unfortunate father. Nina Rosa, you will guess, does not know the value of her inheritance. But the villain Pablo knows and plans to assassinate this young American engineer before the latter can find out. The denouement is effective if not original, but the piece has a lot of Spanish atmosphere, and first night's vast congregation was thrilled more than once at the talk on the stage about "Gauchos," "manana," "casilleros," and such like Iberian-American splashes of color.

The performance aroused the 7,000 spectators to frequent outbursts of enthusiasm. Mr. Guy Robertson as the American engineer, Miss Margaret Carle as the lovely mine owner who rejected her kisses "for the man I will marry," and Mr. Leonard Copley as the inebricated and unprincipled "Gauchito" threw themselves wholeheartedly into Mr. Romberg's tuneful tragedy and succeeded in transforming Forest Park into a wild mining camp in Tucuman. The chorus, many of whom were recruited from the talented youth of St. Louis, might have come direct from the Shubert theatres on Broadway, so lustily did they sing, while the town's own "St. Louis Rockettes," ladies of the Tiller model, almost stopped the proceedings with a demonstration of precise and uniform leg-shaking.

Naturally, the real hero of the evening was Mr. Romberg, who was present in duck trousers and blue jacket. Mr. Romberg alternated at the baton with Mr. Bamboschek of our own Metropolitan Opera House, and imbued the more stirring portions of his score with the vitality that only the composer can extract from his artists. Indeed, the spectacle was a triumph for the Municipal Theatre, the singing actors, the orchestra of fifty, the spectators and the spirit of St. Louis. Aliens who witnessed this triumph were Mr. Percy Hammond, Mr. Brooks Atkinson and Mr. Robert Coleman, all representing eager constituents in New York.

Hole Prevention

If your style of walking seems to encourage holes in the heels of your stockings very quickly, try putting a small square of adhesive tape on your bare heels just at the shoe line, before you put your stockings on. It often helps.

WHERE FAMILY OF SIX LOST LIVES

Here is where swift tragedy overtook seven Philadelphians—six of them members of one family—when their automobile dropped into the 100-foot deep water of an abandoned quarry near Souderton, Pa. The picture shows how the car was believed to have plunged backward into the pit when the driver, Ralph Cupitt, forty-four, attempted to turn it around during a blinding rainstorm. The bodies were recovered with the aid of divers. Note the crowd gathered at the scene.

Germans Plan Cuts In All Export Prices; Brilliant Move Seen

Paris Hears 10 Per Cent. Slash Possible By Lower Wages and Cheaper Coal

Glut of Coal Is Factor; Quick Move May Outdistance All Rivals

Paris, June 20.—A scheme by which Germany hopes largely to expand her export trade in the face of the present widespread depression is looked upon by many European business men as nothing short of "brilliant economic strategy."

The plan that Berlin dispatches have set forth is simplicity itself, being a general ten per cent reduction in the prices of those things which Germany sells to the world. This is to be brought about by forthcoming cuts in wage scales and the cost of coal.

The reduction, it is said, will be effected so quickly that Germany's competitors, with entirely different domestic problems, will not be able to meet the Reich's challenge. The American market, it is observed here, would be among the first to feel adverse effects.

The theory behind the move is that with world markets suffering from a period of contraction and reduced buying, a 10 or possibly 12 per cent reduction in prices will mean a great deal more than it would during prosperous times. Thus the Germans are credited with the expectation that new markets will be gained during the slump at a maximum cost of 10 or 12 per cent which can later be made up when the economic depression gives place to improved conditions.

There are some who doubt whether Germany will be able to initiate such a bold plan and still others who wonder whether the German workmen will accept wage reductions. According to the Berlin messages, however, Westphalian iron workers are about to agree to a 7 1/2 per cent diminution of wages, which is to be followed almost immediately by a 10 per cent lowering of the prices for iron.

The most important factor in favor of a 100 per cent cut in export prices is the present glut of coal in Germany. With the depression in the European coal trade the worst in many years, stocks in the Ruhr have now increased to 7,000,000 tons, an increase of nearly 2,000,000 tons during the last thirty days. Heavy price-cutting for export orders has already deprived Britain of several large orders, notably in the case of the Naples gas works' contract for 40,000 tons and a Swedish railway order for 21,000. The German coal owners are ready to fall in with the new plan and cut prices for domestic consumers, thereby completing the economic trilogy—cheaper coal, cheaper manufacturing and cheaper prices.

Another big incentive for the project is the fact that it would probably make jobs for thousands of persons now out of work in Germany. The last figures published here showed 2,500,000 unemployed.

France, with a totally different situation generally satisfactory trade conditions and only 11,000 unemployed at the last official count—apparently has no intention of carrying out general price reductions, but this country and all others whose exports play a vital role in their national prosperity may be forced to reconsider their respective positions if the German plan is realized.

Westminster Cathedral, England, is to be decorated all over inside with mosaic work, at $15 a square foot. The whole task will cost about $5,000,000, and may not be completed for about 300 years.

World War Veteran Makes Statement

WILLIAM CORMACK

"I'm a World War veteran and served overseas for three and a half years with the 58th Battalion of Canadian Infantry. I was wounded and gassed in action, and have been a sick man ever since I came out of the service. I spent many a hard-earned dollar trying to get back my health, but I don't believe I ever would have gotten back on my feet if a friend of mine in Minneapolis hadn't started me on this new Sargon medicine by sending me two bottles.

"A man in the carpenter trade like I am has to have plenty of strength to stay on the job, and the effects of the 'gas' I got overseas had just about shot my system to pieces. Many a day I'd get so weak and nervous I couldn't drive a nail or saw a board on the square, and I'd just have to quit work and go home. Indigestion and constipation were always giving me trouble, in spite of the laxatives and medicines I took almost every night, and sometimes I couldn't sleep good. kept losing weight steadily and became mighty discouraged over my condition.

"I noticed such a big improvement after those first two bottles of Sargon my friend sent me, that when I found out I could get this new medicine in Toronto, I went down to Tamblin's

Drug Store and bought two more bottles. I feel like a new man now and my weight has jumped from 140 to 150—an actual gain of ten pounds. My whole system is strengthened and toned up, and I can eat anything that's put before me without having a sign of indigestion or dizziness afterwards. I'm not nervous either, but sleep like a kid every night and my work is a real pleasure. Instead of being 'tagged out' at the end of the day, I feel just about as fresh and fit as when I started.

"I also took the Sargon Soft Mass Pills and they're a valuable part of the treatment. They didn't upset me as all and got my bowels regulated so good that I hardly ever have to take them any more.

"My wife has now started the treatment and is already looking lots better. I've recommended it to any number of my friends and I haven't heard of anybody yet that Sargon didn't help. I'm always glad to talk to those who want to ask me about this great medicine."

The above straightforward statement was made recently by William Cormack, well-known contractor on 157-McRoberts Ave., Toronto. Mr. Cormack was with the 58th Battalion of Canadian Infantry in France and saw active service for three and one-half years.

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores in Victoria and Vancouver and Bews Drug Store at New Westminster. (Advt.)

BONE DRY PARTY BECOMES ACTIVE

New Political Party Seeking Members in British Columbia; One Candidate in Field

A bone dry Canada is the objective of the Bone Dry Canada Political Party which has commenced activities in British Columbia with headquarters in Vancouver. The new party is now conducting a drive in Victoria for members.

Following an announcement of policy made by prohibitionists some time ago, it would appear they are making plans to take an active part in the Federal election campaign. Opinions of candidates on the subject may be sought. It is understood, and an effort made by the new organization to make complete prohibition a prominent feature of the Federal election campaign.

The objective of the new party as set out on membership cards which are being circulated in Victoria is "abolition of the liquor traffic and clean, efficient government administration."

E. G. Appleby, watchmaker, is to contest the Burrard seat in Greater Vancouver at the Federal election in the interest of the new party.

FRENCH DEPLORE GRAVES' NEGLECT

Visit of War Mothers May Improve War Cemeteries There

Paris, June 20.—The visit to this country of the Gold Star Mothers may result in a marked improvement of the condition of the French military cemeteries. It was indicated following reports from the old front that the French graves are in a scandalous condition.

The newspaper L'Ouvre, taking up the criticism, declares that it will not be long before it is impossible to locate the graves of the French dead.

Because of a protest several years ago, wooden crosses over the graves were replaced by cement crosses, but L'Ouvre correspondent said that they are of such poor material that it is impossible to read the names on some of them which have been erected only six months. Many of the crosses are broken and trees and shrubs are dead. L'Ouvre says: "American and British cemeteries are so green and orderly, with readable names, that ours by comparison seem abandoned. It is not lack of money, only carelessness."

Bishop Murray At Sacramento Service

For the first time as Bishop of Victoria, Rt. Rev. Gerald C. Murray administered the Sacrament of Confirmation last evening in St. Andrew's Cathedral. There was a large class of candidates for confirmation, and Mr. and Mrs. Blair Reid acted as sponsors for the boys and girls respectively. The bishop spoke simply to the children, questioning them upon the articles of faith and commending their replies. His Lordship was attended by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Levesque, Rev. Father C. E. Evans, rector of the cathedral, Rev. Father Wood, St. Joseph's Church, Esquimalt, and Rev. Father Gaudette. On Trinity Sunday the bishop also officiated at the first communion mass of forty small children. After leaving the cathedral, the children were taken to St. Ann's Academy, where at the invitation of Sister Superior, and under the management of the Victoria and junior subdivisions, Catholic Women's League, breakfast was served them in the prettily decorated juniors' dining-room.

MRS. FLETCHER IS HONORED BY "Y" AUXILIARY

Re-elected President and Presented With Handsome Vase By Members

MRS. J. H. FLETCHER

Mrs. J. H. Fletcher was re-elected president by acclamation at the annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A. held at her home on Monday afternoon. Other officers chosen were: Hon. president, Mrs. J. O. Cameron; first vice-president, Mrs. R. W. Mayhew; second vice-president, Mrs. S. J. Willis; recording secretary, Mrs. W. E. Stancand; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Tuck; treasurer, Mrs. D. McAdie. Mrs. Fletcher was presented with a very handsome Clotilde vase from the members of the auxiliary, who felt they owed the president a great deal for her zealous support of the "Y" work, and also for her thoughtfulness and consideration in all her dealings as head of the auxiliary. The gift was accompanied by a dainty little autograph book, containing the signatures of each of the members. Reports were given by the various committees, including the house and refreshments committees, and of the very successful linen shower held in May at "Schuhum" by the kindness of Miss Agnew. The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance in the bank. At the conclusion of the business, the president served tea and the meeting adjourned to meet again in September, when the annual guest tea will be held.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

With our modern conflict of guidance versus force, the parent who is modern in thought (if not in practice) admits that she understands spanking does no lasting good to the child and that it isn't a means of teaching anything, but she demands: "What else can I do?" None but the blindest of parents argues that the removal of spanking, as one kind of discipline, means that no discipline is used at all. Such a supposition is absurd. Perhaps some parents have thought that freedom meant the child was to go his own sweet way without hindrance or frustration. Far from it. The child must be taught to obey in the home, otherwise how can he possibly meet all the taboos and rules and laws which he will encounter as soon as he goes out into the world, whether that is at five years or twenty-five? Parents with that idea have given no thought at all to the problem but simply jumped to conclusions. Between liberty and license there is a golden mean, and it is that path we hope to point out to the child under our guidance.

STUDY EACH SITUATION

The trouble is that parents, who are eager for new ways of handling the problems of child training, demand the impossible—a method of discipline applicable to all situations and all children. There is no such thing. That is the chief reason for the failure of the spanking parent. She takes into consideration nothing whatever. She doesn't study the situation or the child to see in what way the two may peacefully be adjusted. She supposes that by some magic in the rod's stinging bite misbehavior and faulty conduct (from whatever cause) will end.

Never having been spanked myself, I don't know from personal experience what a child's reactions to it are. My mother was wiser than her generation and decided a trial that a child need not be spanked to be made to mind. I cannot even imagine the sensation of being slapped—but I hated to the line, nevertheless, and chiefly as I recall it, because I was mortally distressed at displeasing my parents, I still am.

VIOLENCE UNNECESSARY

With such a background it would have been utterly impossible for me to use violence with my own family. Slapping and hitting are repugnant to me. We know well that without the angry emotion to key one up a child would be unmanageable. No child ever punished in cold anger, the whipping has to be done at the height of a parent's "righteous" indignation. To quell her shame after she has had to alibi herself. "He just drove me crazy. I was desperate!" If I want to guide a child along the paths that are best for him to follow, we must think, if I am right, why am I getting the wrong responses from the child? How can I manage so that he will understand he'll be happier if he obeys me? Patience, and understanding of all children, tact and constant observation are necessary for the modern mother. It isn't as easy as whipping. But it's humane, educational and lasting. We're rearing children for tomorrow and not for to-day.

PROSPECTIVE MOTHERS NEED OVALTINE

DOCTORS the world over strongly recommend Ovaltine, the delicious tonic food beverage, for those months when extra nourishment is so essential. It encourages a rich milk secretion and builds up the health of the mother.

Made by a scientific process from ripe barley malt, creamy milk from England's richest pastures, and fresh eggs, Ovaltine is easily digested, quickly assimilated—and especially rich in the natural food elements a prospective mother must have.

WARNING

Ovaltine's tremendous success has brought many imitations. For your own and baby's sake, do not be misled. Ovaltine is a scientifically correct food—different from all other food beverages. It is recommended by doctors throughout the world.

STARTLING INNOVATIONS ARE TABOO IN WEDDING GOWNS

Simplicity First In Importance; Says Patou

By JEAN PATOU

PARIS—When you think of the numerous members of a prospective bride's family who prefer their own ideas as to what her wedding dress should look like, it is nothing short of amazing that the result is ever satisfactory. But as a wedding dress is still considered one of the most important garments in the history of a woman's wardrobe, it is easy to understand why everyone wishes it to be perfect.

There are several points to be remembered when selecting a bride's dress. Simplicity is the first and every detail should be studied and weighed in order to preserve this character. A bridal gown should never attract undue attention or feature any startling detail. On the other hand, it must be expressive of the bride's personality, but this has to be achieved in a very discreet manner.

FERIL IN "DIFFERENCE"

I think a wedding dress should never evoke a style long past, neither should it be too ultra-modern. Every season I present a bridal ensemble, the result of very careful study. Obviously, this ensemble is not suited to all types so I invariably advise a prospective bride whom my model would not suit to select another from my current collection which will be neither too new nor too original of style.

It is usually among evening gowns that you will find a style suitable for a bride, that is to say, one that can easily be adapted to this purpose. Once this is done, there remains but to select the material and complete the ensemble by the ornamentations best suited to the wearer's type.

All fabrics are good for a wedding dress from the sheerest to the heaviest. I have seen several wedding gowns made of lace which were especially attractive—but personally I prefer a fabric that will convey to the ensemble that character of softness, lightness and daintiness, the prerogative of every bride-to-be. On the other hand, too sheer a material, especially if worn with a tulle veil, might make the ensemble look devoid of consistency, that Left: With a real lace veil, Patou makes a dress of dull crepe an effective background for it. The floral waist trimming has a small lace fill also, and flowing sleeves give this wedding gown sufficient personality. Right: Twin clusters of mother of pearl flowers hold the folds of a tulle veil close to the head and are a favorite coiffure with Jean Patou for a bride.

Left: Why I usually prefer a material with some brilliancy of surface and some body to it. COIFFURE IS IMPORTANT So far as the details of a bridal gown are concerned, it is incredible how the judicious choice of a coiffure can enhance the charm of a bride. This question of coiffure can never be the object of too long or too careful a study. It is almost as important as the dress itself in the final analysis. Generally the coiffure or headgear is the starting-point of the bridal veil. Lace is sufficient decoration if the girl is fortunate enough to be able to wear real lace. Tulle, on the other hand, is equally as charming and perhaps more becoming, but it needs a trimming of some kind. A posy of flowers holding the veil on either side of the head in a fashion that suits most faces, provided the right proportions are maintained, both as regards to the choice of flowers and the size of them.

Fast U.S. Women To Oppose Seattle Girl In Exhibition Gala

Six Mermaids Coming From New York Club for Races; Two Others Sought in California to Oppose Helene Madison in Special Attempts at Records in Crystal Garden; Will Arrive in Victoria July 10.

Six mermaids, bearing the Flying "O" crest of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, champions all, will come to Victoria for the big swimming exhibition to be staged by the Rotary Club in the Crystal Garden on July 11, it was announced in a letter to T. P. McConnell, chairman of the sports committee of the club, to-day. In addition to them, Helene Madison, Seattle champion and world record swimmer, will demonstrate her speed during the meet. Two other girls are expected to make the trip from California following the U.S. swimming championships there, but to date definite word has not been received from them.

Heading the New York contingent will be Eleanor Holm, member of the 1928 United States Olympic team and holder of the U.S. titles for 100 and 200-yard back stroke, 300-yard and 300-metre medley and general all round swimmer.

With her will come three other members of the squad which took major honors in the Amsterdam games. Agnes Geraghty, who was seen in action here shortly after the opening of the pool, when she swam in an exhibition with Ethel McGarry and Helen Meany, will again flash her fins in the breast stroke exhibitions.

Miss Geraghty is the 100 and 200-yard breast stroke champion of the United States and is counted one of the fastest women in her class in the world. Another Olympic representative, Lisa Lindstrom, 230, 440 and 500-yard and one mile water Metropolitan freestyle champion, is also expected to add greatly to the color and competition in the meet.

RELAY STARS
Dorothea Dickinson, 880-yard senior Metropolitan freestyle champion; Catherine Ames, member of the champion New York women's relay team and quarter-mile and 300-yard freestyle ace, along with Adelaide Lambert, another member of the 1928 Olympic team, will complete the squad. Miss Lambert is also a member of the title-holding relay team and one of the club's fastest members over the quarter and half-mile freestyle courses.

Against this galaxy of Eastern United States stars, Helene Madison, Seattle marvel, will demonstrate her speed and make new attempts on the records for the distances in which she will compete.

HAS BEEN CRACKING RECORDS
Recently in Seattle, she lowered her own mark for the 300 yards to three minutes, thirty-eight seconds and crashed the record of Martha Norelius for the 300 yards by completing the distance in three minutes, fifty-nine and one-half seconds. Martha's best time for this distance was four minutes and two-fifths seconds.

When Helene swims here she will have a fine opportunity to better her marks under the standard regulations. The pool is exactly fifty yards long, the recognized distance for short races, and is absolutely still. If she is given good competition, she should undoubtedly give a speedy demonstration of the stroke that has carried her to the top of the United States women's swimming ladder.

Last November, before her rapid rise to fame, Helene, then junior national United States champion, swam in Victoria. Experts here predicted a successful future for the thin, unassuming youngster. They are expected to turn out in force next month to make sure their predictions were correct.

SPECIAL COMPETITORS SOUGHT
While little definite information has been received about the two girls who are expected to join the New York champions for the trip, it is understood that one is being sought to meet Helene in a special race for an attempt on the existing record. The other is reported to be one of the highest ranking women divers in the United States.

The visiting team will be the finest aggregation of women swimmers that has ever been seen in the city and will doubtless have the Crystal Garden crowded to capacity for the exhibition. Proceeds from the meet will be donated to charity institutions, the majority going to the Mill Bay Sanatorium.

WILL ARRIVE JULY 10
The swimmers will arrive in town on the 12.30 boat from Seattle on July 10. That afternoon they will be taken for drives around the city and entertained by the clubmen.

They will remain in Victoria all the following day, taking part in the gala in the evening. The following afternoon they will leave for Vancouver to swim there.

The programme here will be supplemented by a diving exhibition by Victorians men and perhaps a boys' relay race.

DODGES SAVED BY DARKNESS

Beggs Lead 16-13 in Eighth But Game Called and Dodges Win

Darkness came to the rescue of the Dodgers in last night's Garage Baseball League fixture at the Royal Athletic Park. Beggs were leading 16-13 in their half of the eighth when daylight failed and Umpire McMillan was forced to call the game. The score then read: Dodgers 16, Beggs 13. In the seventh inning in which the Dodgers finished one run to the good, 13-12.

Going into the sixth, Dodgers were two runs behind at 10-12, but a brisk rally netted them three precious runs and put the game on ice. Both teams were held scoreless in the seventh. Beggs opened up a big margin in the early innings, and at one stage of the game were leading 7-2.

The score by innings:
Beggs 1 6 0 1 1 3 0—13
Dodgers 0 3 3 4 7 3 0—15
Batteries—Hughes and Bridgwood; Miles, Irving and Wilkinson.
Umpire, McMillan.

OVER the WALL

Elits were rather scarce in the Big Six yesterday, although only two members were out of action, Chuck Klein, the leader, and Paul Waner were rained out. The three American League members got only one hit apiece, Babe Ruth, who hit two out of four for a .307 average, became the day's new member, replacing Riggs Stephenson in second place. Stephenson hit one out of five and dropped off considerably.

THE HAMILTON OLYMPIC CLUB WHO IS CONSIDERED ONE OF CANADA'S BEST LONG DISTANCE RUNNERS... NET HE ONLY COVERED SEVEN MILES IN THE RECENT CANADIAN MARATHON CHAMPIONSHIP

Although the second Canadian marathon championship is history there are still some facts that seem somewhat strange to us. The fact that Webster is still a "fading" wonder is almost ideal, but some considered it a little cool for the older contestant. The failure of Johnny Miles and Harold Webster was the cause of much conjecture. Webster retired after running about seven miles, while the Boston marathon winner dropped out after covering eighteen. He was not up with the contenders after the thirteenth mile, yet these weather conditions were almost made to order for Johnny. As for Harold, many believe that his bad leg that forced him to give up at the Olympics is again bothering him. It is regretted by many that these two men who have formed the vanguard of Canada's marathoners apparently seem to be fading.

Pitching Contest Will Open To-morrow

To-morrow will mark the opening of the first annual boys' pitching contest under the auspices of The Victoria Daily Times. The opening of the competition will take place at the Central Park where "Old Wooden Face" will be set up early to-morrow morning. It is expected that hundreds of boys from this district will compete for the honors. Pitching will commence promptly at 9.30 o'clock and continue throughout the morning.

For the next six weeks "Old Wooden Face" will be moved around to the various parks and playgrounds in the city, so that every youngster will be given a chance to take part in the competition to determine the city champions. Two groups will be conducted, one for juniors including boys fourteen years and under, and the other for seniors between fifteen and eighteen years.

RANGERS WIN AT DETROIT

Glasgow Football Team Gives Brilliant Exhibition to Win Match 3-1

Detroit, June 20.—What was undoubtedly the most colorful exhibition of soccer ever witnessed in this district was displayed for the edification of approximately 7,000 spectators at Hamtramck Stadium Tuesday night when Glasgow Rangers defeated a Detroit eleven by a goal to 1.

The local team scored first midway through the initial period, but from that stage there was only one side in the picture. Superb combination, excellent passing, head and footwork that has seldom been equaled, kept the crowd in a fever and the Detroiters lay weary long before the end arrived. It needed the stimulus of having to come from behind to bring out the best that the visitors possessed, and just why the Rangers compiled such a record in Scottish circles was fully revealed.

Crop Conditions Across Prairies Given in Detail

Ottawa, June 20.—Following are the wire reports from the various stations as issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics:

Winnipeg.—Following period of late spring frosts and high winds which caused some soil drifting, generous rains fell throughout Manitoba June 12 to 15. Crops now growing very fast and look excellent. Prospects good. Slight cutworm damage.

Brandon.—Season has been cool, but cereal crop conditions are generally satisfactory. Thin stands cultivated hay crops. Potatoes are late. Rains commencing June 11 heavy and beneficial. A little damage from soil drifting and cutworms.

Regina.—Fairly general rains on Friday and Saturday were very welcome, especially in those parts of the province severely damaged by high winds. While the crops have benefited by these rains, more will be required shortly as there was only sufficient to meet temporary needs. Crops are generally somewhat backward and in the blown area are patchy. Warm weather with copious rains, are needed to bring them up to average.

Indian Head.—High winds and cutworms have caused considerable damage to crops in this district. Many farmers reseeded to flax, barley and oats for feed. Rye heading out and well forward. Plenty of moisture over week-end. Warm weather required to promote growth.

Swift Current.—Five per cent wheat crop blown over reseeded flax, oats, barley. Damage that good rains cannot repair. One-and-a-half inches rain June 13 to 15 stopped drought and drifting. Reserve moisture low. Good rains needed to make average crop.

Scott.—Approximately thirty per cent damage to grain has been caused by soil drifting, but fields not affected are slightly better than a year ago. Over half an inch of moisture was received last week, but more is needed. Damage by cutworms and wireworms is much more severe than last year.

Lethbridge.—Rain needed practically all points southern Alberta and urgently needed at most points due to high temperatures and hot persistent winds of past week. Fortunately there was no previous wind injury of moment. No serious insect damage. Irrigation general. Excellent stand sugar beets. Thinning well advanced.

Lacombe.—Precipitation 19.30 under four inches. June only half inch in light showers recent days. Very high winds caused bad soil drifting. Twenty-five per cent crop in central Alberta ruined. Thirty per cent can be saved only by very heavy rains. Much reseeded under way, but results very doubtful.

YOUR CHILDREN

I have watched a family of children grow up whose parents have literally slaved themselves to death.

It hasn't been necessary for these parents to work so hard because they were always in what we call comfortable circumstances. But plenty wasn't enough. They wanted their children to have just about everything on earth and as a consequence this loving father has worked night and day at his office growing round-shouldered, bald-headed, and morose. The only time his face lights up is when he sees his daughters the best dressed—daughters who usually are—at a party, or his son who has been pushing for a car of his own finally step into a smart little roadster and drive down the street with all the other boys looking on enviously.

"Then," he'll say proudly, "Cully is a fine boy," and look as happy as a king, if kings are happy.

The mother of this family has done her part with a will. She has let her hair part go by, lost her friends and her health, because she is always too busy giving parties for the children, buying and looking after their clothes, planning trips, doing over their rooms, seeing that they have their favorite dishes for meals, and acting as general household—please, however, that the children's spoiling—yes, they are spoiled—is not due to her alone. She has a complete and competent partner in her husband. It is a conspiracy of two to hand those youngsters the world on a silver platter and because it is not a gold platter, they feel that it is "fun" to be poor.

And as a consequence there are usually more bills than money. Father is getting more stooped, works harder, and smiles less than ever. If you want him to smile you have to switch the conversation to Cully, or Beatrice, or Joan, or little Joe.

We'll leave the parents and see what has happened to the children.

These are smart juveniles highly intelligent, and were, as little people, among the most promising specimens of growing humanity that I ever saw.

They had good ancestors, and possessed that natural energy and direction that good stock puts out.

But it didn't take many years for the family friends to see that these were unpleasant children. The only time they were pleasant was when someone else was doing exactly what they wanted him to do. They had to be top-notchers in everything. If they couldn't win a game, they quit; if they couldn't be president of the club they began to knock it and hated the place and everyone in it; if they couldn't be class leaders in school, they despised the teacher and claimed that they hadn't had a fair deal; if they couldn't be the best dressed and the centre of attention at a party, they

MODEL AIRCRAFT FLIGHTS TO MEET AND HEAR TALKS

The monthly general meeting of the Victoria Model Aircraft League will take place to-morrow evening at 7.45 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A.

Presentation of the prizes won by the contestants in the championship meet on May 31 will be made.

O. H. Stevens, flight counsel of the Oak Bay Flight, will occupy the chair until the new officials are installed. Some of the trophies to be presented are the Anson Cup for non-flying scale models, which will be presented by His Worship, and the Victoria Challenge Cup for endurance, to be presented to Willie McPhail by Sydney Pickles, the donor. Several short speeches will be given by members of the league's advisory board and the boys who participated in the championship meet in Vancouver.

Evan Hanbury will describe "Airplane Engines and Their Construction"; Jimmy Haggart, the grand aggregate winner from Victoria, will give his impressions of an airplane trip to Vancouver; Fred Pierce, who placed exceedingly well in the Vancouver meet, will tell of the outdoor meet, and Dick Robbins will tell of the indoor meet. Ken Stevens will give a talk on his trip through the Jericho Beach Air Station and the Boeing (Canadian) factories. All flights are asked to have representatives present, as the new officers will be inaugurated and a new programme outlined. The meeting will be open to the general public.

at around and sulked, or went home and made fun of the party and everybody there.

Now the time has come when serious problems confront them all. Careers, marriage, money—life. They know no adjustment and are discovering that these things and a good many other things are beyond their control. I need not tell you the result. Resentment, unhappiness, ad worst of all, a dislike and jealousy of people is making this family bitter. Isn't the whole plan of these parents one of terribly mistaken kindness? To me it is typical of that old phrase, "The kindness that kills."

YOU WANT JUST A LIGHT BREAKFAST

You want just a light breakfast "so you can do some real work"—and then you yield to the allurements of heavy foods until you are loaded down for the day, unable to do any clear thinking or planning. A breakfast of Shredded Wheat and milk is even more flavory and will give mental pep and physical alertness. It's ready-cooked and ready-to-eat—delicious for any meal.

FAIR GAS WAITRESS

Since pretty Blanche Taylor, nineteen, joined the sales force of a gasoline station in Detroit, that station has had a considerable increase in business. Blanche can fill gas tanks, check oil and water, and wipe windshields as well as any male attendant, but she balks at draining crankcase oil. It's hard on the white trousers she's wearing, she explains.

Many Passengers Here To-day On Two Liners

Niagara Has 453 Passengers From "Down Under"; Many Leave Vessel Here

Emma Alexander Delayed By Head Winds and Did Not Dock Until This Morning

Passengers from Australia, New Zealand, the Fiji Islands, Honolulu and California to the number of nearly 900 were shown around Victoria this morning after their arrival here by the liners Niagara and Emma Alexander, both of which docked at the Rithet piers early to-day. In brilliant sunshine the passengers left their ships as early as 6 o'clock, many taking the waiting touring cars for drives around the residential districts, while others preferred merely to roam around town in typical tourist style with cameras and exclamations galore for the Parliament Buildings, the Empress Hotel and the snowcapped Olympics across the straits.

The Niagara brought in 453 passengers in all classes, 142 in the second and 181 in the third. The Emma Alexander had about 350 passengers, all in the one class. About half the passengers from the Niagara disembarked from the ship here and proceeded to Seattle this afternoon, while the Emma left here for Vancouver. Several of the Honolulu passengers leaving the Niagara have brought their cars along, and after touring the island will motor down the Pacific Highway and call from either San Francisco or Los Angeles on their return home.

BOTH SHIPS DELAYED

Both the Niagara and the Emma Alexander were delayed in docking here by still head winds encountered yesterday off the coast. Capt. T. V. Hill of the Niagara said that while they delayed his ship, they did not mar the pleasure of the passage. Capt. G. A. Harris of the Emma reported that his ship ran into head winds off the Washington coast yesterday.

Among the prominent passengers aboard the Niagara were: D. Wilson, of Sydney, with Mrs. Wilson; H. B. Phipps, of the Chrysler Motors Limited, of Sydney, with Mrs. Phipps; H. J. Van Dusen, lumber merchant of Vancouver, with his wife and daughter; C. Edwards, a banker of Santa Barbara, California; Robert Holt, senior partner of Alfred Holt and Company, ship owners of England; C. H. Cowan, company director of London; Sir Reginald and Lady Tuck of London; H. E. Reynolds, manager of the Quik-Hut Electrical Company of Sydney; Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Cooper of Honolulu; G. T. Gardner, of Orie, Gardner and Company of Melbourne.

Among the ninety passengers who left the Emma Alexander here were: Mrs. Blanche Obar, J. S. Parker, Mr. T. J. Pascoe, Miss Gloria and Miss Thelma Pascoe, Miss V. Page, L. L. Phillips, Robert and Jean Powell, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Powell, C. Reeve, W. A. Riddell, Mrs. W. R. Richardson, Mr. M. Rock, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Romick, W. H. Rowley, Miss Mary Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. H. REV. DR. CAMPBELL DIES IN HIS SLEEP

The University of Toronto, receiving his B.A. from that institution in 1873, and his M.A. in the year 1883. Meantime, he had been taking his theological course at Knox College, Toronto, and graduated there in 1874. Some ten years later he took a post-graduate course at Bloomington University, obtaining there the degree of Ph.D.

ORDAINED IN 1874

Immediately upon completing his divinity course, Rev. John Campbell was called to the Presbyterian Church at Canby, Ont., and was ordained and inducted there on September 21, 1874. From Canby he was called to Knox Church, Hamilton, and after eight years of successful labor there, was invited to be the minister of the Presbyterian Church in Collingwood, a thriving port on the Georgian Bay, where he was called in 1882.

STRIKING PERSONALITY

Dr. Campbell was a man of striking personality, excepting gifts, untiring energy and most lovable nature. As a student in Knox College he had won first prize in public speaking, which was a prophetic of a distinguished career in later years. As a preacher he was called to minister, he always attracted large numbers of faithful people, and he never sent them away hungry. As a preacher he was eloquent, interesting, forceful and highly evangelical. It is not surprising that more than one congregation in the United States set covetous eyes upon him, and offered attractive inducements if he would accept their invitation; but he always had the feeling that he could never be happy under any other flag, and to him it was a high privilege to have a hand in the shaping of the ideals of the new land which was his by adoption.

WAS MODERATOR

During his long ministry, Dr. Campbell occupied many prominent positions and offices within the church. He acted as Moderator in three different presbyteries, and in 1897 was made Moderator of the Synod of British Columbia.

Around the Docks

To load 250,000 feet of Vancouver Island timber here for the United Kingdom, the United States freighter Steel Exporter docked at the Ogden Point piers this morning at 6 o'clock. King Bros. local shipping agents, are handling the ship. She will leave to-night for Olympia to complete her cargo.

Bound for Victoria and Seattle with a large number of passengers, the American Mail liner President Jefferson is now steaming away from the Japanese coast, having left Yokohama last Monday. She will dock here Friday evening next, and proceed later to Seattle.

There are 123 passengers in all classes aboard the incoming N.Y.K. liner Kawa Maru, which will dock here next Wednesday on her first trip from the Orient. Of these passengers, two first cabin, eighteen second, and twenty-nine steerage will leave here, while seventeen first, thirty tourist and thirty-two steerage will go on to Seattle. There are also 100 tons of general cargo for Victoria.

The liner Niagara, which docked at the Rithet piers this morning at 6 a.m. from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu, remained at the piers discharging cargo until 10:30 o'clock. She proceeded to Vancouver, where she was due to arrive at the mainland port at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The C.P.R. steamer Princess Norah is now in Vancouver loading cargo for the west coast of Vancouver Island. She will return here to-morrow and will sail to-morrow night at 11 o'clock for the west coast with a capacity cargo and a large number of tourist passengers.

The Princess Patricia, looking neat and trim in a fresh coat of paint, was here all day.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, June 20.—Wheat: Export market in Chicago, the market breaking for new lows for the crop year, rains from light to heavy being reported as fairly general throughout Alberta, scattered liquidation and very indifferent support were the main features in the wheat market today. The market acted heavy and after opening 1/2 higher, based on Liverpool being a little firmer than due, and a report of rather unfavorable crop conditions in Canada, prices began shipping and were finally 3/4 under the close last night, and through the daily bids for more than a cent.

Trade volume was not large, but what wheat was coming out today very little Canadian power. July again touched 98 1/2, which is the year's lowest price. There was some reaction from the bottom, but the buying was largely short covering or buying against the daily bids.

There was just a moderate demand for cash wheat, and spreads unchanged to quarter off, although there were some lots of certain grades worked early at a fraction over the previous close. Overnight export sales were very small, less than 200,000 bushels, confirmed here, and buyers were not inclined to increase their bids, while foreign demand continues so light.

Bradstreet's American report on shipments for the week were only 5,447,914 bushels, which does not seem to confirm the big export sales reported this past week.

There was nothing new in the flour situation, export business being very slow and domestic just ordinary. The forecast indicated weather becoming unsettled again with showers in all three provinces to-day or Saturday. Liverpool finished weak, closing 1/2 lower. Winnipeg close 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 lower.

Coarse grains: These markets continue quiet with only a small trade passing. Prices lost further ground today, but the selling pressure is not heavy. There is a fair inquiry from eastern Canada for low grade oats and barley, but there was very little business to-day. Oats 1/2 lower, 1/2 to 1/4 lower, 1/2 to 1/4 lower, 1/2 to 1/4 lower.

Flax: No feature; very little going on.

STOCKS FAIL TO HOLD RALLY AS BEARS GROW

Cut in Brokers' Loans and Money Rates Prove Inadequate to Stem Tide

Buying Power Utterly Lacking as Sense of Depression Holds Sway

Break in Commodity Markets To-day to New Lows Adds to Demoralization

New York, June 20 (R.C. Bond).—At the close of the market this afternoon the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 221.92, off 7.63 points for the day; for twenty rails at 130.05, off 1.16 points; and for twenty utilities at 81.68, off 2.72 points. Sales for the day totaled 3,651,100 shares.

Share prices fell back $2 to $14 a share on the New York stock exchange to-day, cancelling much of yesterday's gains.

Renewed bear selling was attracted by the violent opening yesterday, and another sharp break in the Chicago wheat market was distinctly unsettled.

The cut in the New York rediscount rate to 3½ per cent, the lowest in history, and the drop of $11,000,000 in brokers' loans caused a vigorous upturn in share prices as the market opened, but selling appeared in large volume during the late morning and early afternoon.

During the afternoon the list melted moderately at times, but closing prices were close to the day's lowest.

NO BUYING POWER

Call money was 2½ per cent. Volume was not large and did not increase materially when the market turned weak. Pressure seemed to be largely professional, but the buying power was small with apparently no courage to take a long position in the face of constant offering of the active and more popular industrials.

BEAR TRADERS INCREASED

Renewed weakness in the commodity markets, particularly in wheat and other grains, had the effect of diminishing hopeful sentiment on the stock exchange. The belief was widely spread that commodities markets perhaps furnish as good a clue to the course of the stock market as can be found at present, and consequently weakness in those directions is immediately capitalized by bearish traders whose ranks apparently have not been diminished, but probably have been augmented.

There seems to be developing a wide interest on the selling side, particularly by outside market participants. The day's news budget was small and unimportant in relation to application to stock movements.

SMELTERS DIVIDEND SAFE

American Smelting is being sympathetically affected by the declines in the other coppers, but a large part of its earnings are derived from smelting operations. For that reason, smelters are able to show good earnings even with low copper prices. The $4 dividend is considered well secured.

RATE CUT RECOGNIZES BUSINESS

It is now argued that those who look upon the rediscount rate reduction as a confirmation of the parlous state of business, were short-sighted, and that the reduction in effect recognizes a condition which has obtained in the money market for many weeks.

MARKET FORECASTS PROLONGED DULLNESS

"The market has performed its duty in forecasting a longer period of general business dullness than was originally expected, and is nearing a point where general fluctuations will be much less violent than they have been during the last month," H. P. Bliss today says. "It would not be at all surprising if we were shortly to enter a period of relative dullness, accompanied by irregularity and drifting, somewhat similar, perhaps, to the period the market went through following the severe break which culminated on May 5."

DEFINITE FORECAST MADE

Wall Street Mirror to-day issued the following to its clients: "Once the rally shows any evidence of losing resiliency the professional operators working for the decline will be quick to test out the market. Coupled with this selling there will be the selling of those who have held stocks through the decline and who have been waiting the technical rally which they felt to be long overdue. Shrewd market judges expect that after the rally has run its course and professionals have undertaken a test of prevailing price levels established on the selling of those who have held a gradual decrease in volume for several weeks.

"During this period important interests who have already bought stocks on a scale down will be enabled to conclude their accumulation and the market started on another upward movement."

CHICAGO WHEAT TUMBLES TO MORE NEW LOWS

Chicago, June 20.—Wheat prices broke to the lowest level of the season to-day, dropping to new records of pre-war days for the third time this week.

July wheat sank to 93½¢ a bushel, September to 96½¢ and December to 91½¢, the closing prices resting at a fractionally above the bottom. The day's loss ranged from 2½¢ to 2½¢ a bushel.

Lower Radio Sales For 1930 Predicted

Sales of radios in 1930 are not apt to show any increase over those reported for 1929, says The Brookline Economic Service Inc. in its latest survey of the field. "Profits for the industry will be small owing to losses taken in liquidating inventories carried over from 1929. Business in the fourth quarter of 1930 may very easily run ahead of the same quarter of 1929 but any gain is not likely to be sufficient to offset reduced profits during the first three quarters."

Dorothy Dix

There are those who pessimistically prophesy the doom of the institution of marriage and who believe that in the future divorce will be so common that practically every marriage license will be sold with a divorce coupon attached to it. In proof of their dismal forebodings they point to the fact that young people nowadays do not look upon marriage as an untold blessing, but rather regard it in the light of a sentimental experiment that they don't have to stick unless they like it.

Likewise they call attention to the frivolous pretense upon which people get divorced, a man forsaking his wife for no better reason than that she has got stout and middle-aged and he likes them slim and flapperish or because she has bobbed her hair. And a woman breaking up her home and going back to mother because her husband is addicted to the radio and it gets on her nerves, or because he eats onions.

This was not the way our parents regarded marriage, wait these Jeremiah. When they got married they took each other for better or worse and when they found out they were not united in the holy bonds of matrimony to pin-feathered angels, but to just ordinary men and women, with the usual assortment of human faults and general contrariness and cussedness, they just shut their teeth on their disappointment and bucked up and carried on with matrimony to the funeral. They never even thought of such a thing as throwing up their hands and quitting. Divorce was one of the things that simply wasn't done in the best families.

But, cry these prophets of woe (beating upon their breasts), look at the way the boys and girls regard marriage now! Nothing sacred and binding about it to them. Just a gay adventure. Something they will try once anyway, and if they find that matrimonial bliss isn't all it has been presaged to be, why, there is a divorce court around the corner and maybe they will have better luck next time.

Grass widows and widowers are as plentiful as the flowers in May and men and women think no more of swapping wives and husbands than they do of exchanging a pair of shoes that they found didn't fit when they got them home. All the sacredness has gone out of marriage and by another generation we will have only temporary alliances instead of permanent unions, says these craphangers (sighing heavily).

I don't agree with this point of view. I admit that just now the matrimonial market is just about as shaky as the stock market and that any investment in it is a hazardous speculation. I concede that there never was so many people getting divorces nor such a multitude not getting them, who wanted them, but I think this is because we are in a readjustment period when we are trying to fit the old ideals of marriage on to the modern conditions of life, and it can't be done without friction.

The main trouble with marriage now is that men are still clinging to their grandfather's ideals of marriage and of the place in it that a woman should occupy and of the duties of wives, while the whole position of women and their outlook on life and their ideas have changed. And it is no wonder that when these clashing views meet there is plenty to argue about and that in the heat of the debate many husbands and wives knock down the walls of their homes.

But after this pre-war generation of husbands and wives have fought their way to the divorce court, or settled down into an endurance contest of each other, there is coming along a new crop of brides and bridegrooms who have scrapped all the old theories about the sexes and the relationship of men and women and even the old ideals of the duties and obligations of husbands and wives, and I think they are going to be the happiest married people the world has ever known and that there will be an enormous decline in the divorce rate.

For, you see, these youngsters will have been educated together; they will have worked together; they will have talked over things with a frankness that has been taboo in every previous generation. In a word they will know each other and know just what they are getting and what they are going into when they marry. And so, unless they are utter idiots and fools, they will not suffer the disappointment and disillusion that have turned so many marriages into cinders, ashes and dust for many men and women.

Best of all, though, as I see it, is that the modern boy will understand the modern girl and when he marries her it will not come to him with such a shock of surprise, as it did to his father, when he finds out that she wants to be treated as a human being instead of as a doll or a slave and that she considers that when she puts all she is and has into the domestic partnership she is entitled to a fifty-fifty division of the profits and perquisites.

The youth who has gone to school with a girl who led the class won't dream of adopting a Sir Oracle attitude toward her if they marry. The boy who is used to independent girls, who can stand on their own feet and hold down a good job and draw down a good salary won't think of doling out pennies to his wife when he gets married. He will give her a fair share of his earnings because he knows that she could not endure financial dependence and because he recognizes that the woman who works in a kitchen is just as much entitled to a pay envelope as one who works in an office.

Nor will the man who is associated in business and the professions with competent and talented women make any other about his wife-keeping on with the work she likes and has spent years fitting herself for instead of dropping it to do housework that she loathes and hates and will never learn to do well. If she can help more by making money than she can by making bread and wants to make money instead of bread, that will settle the question for both of them.

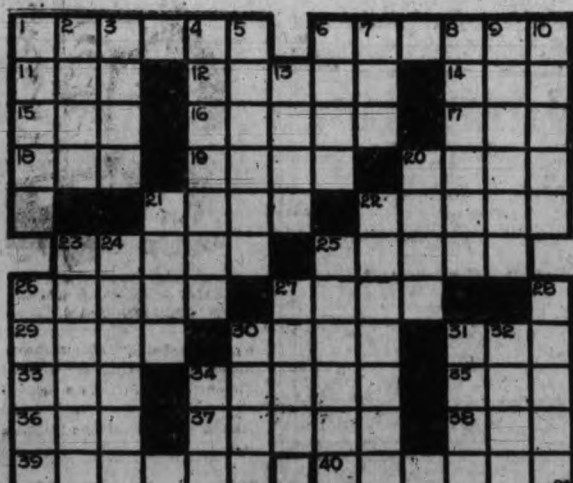

To sum it up, the modern youth will look upon his wife as a human being and treat her as such and that will eliminate most of the grievances of wives and it will give them a platform of mutual toleration that will make for peace and harmony in the home.

So I believe that instead of marriage being on its last legs it is just getting a good running start toward success.

DOROTHY DIX.

LOIS MORAN AND JOE WAGSTAFF IN PLAYHOUSE STORY

Douglas Gilmore makes the boast that he is a direct descendant of Priscilla and John Alden, as his great, great grandmother, Abigail Alden, was the grand daughter of this famous couple. Gilmore enacts an important role in "A Song of Kentucky," Fox Movietone romantic comedy drama, with a race track background, in which Lois Moran and Joe Wagstaff are featured. The picture is currently playing at the Playhouse Theatre.

Nothing is more indicative of the elaborateness of new styles than the delicate colors shown for town wear. Aquatone, turquoise and pale water green appear along with soft pink for suits, hats, shoes, gloves and purses. Very delicate grey is excellent, too.

RADIO'S KINGS OF JAZZ

Nat Shilkret and Hugo Mariani, Orchestra Leaders, Hope to Raise Popular Dance Music to the Level of the Classics

The music that comes from the studios of the National Broadcasting Company is largely the music of two young and ambitious conductors who have the same goal in mind—the elevation of jazz.

The two are Nathaniel Shilkret, short, stubby black-haired product of New York's East Side, and Hugo Mariani, olive-skinned, nervous native of South America.

Perhaps the only kinship between these two is this desire to dignify jazz, to, as they say, "develop the modern music idiom." Otherwise they have led almost opposed lives.

FATHERS WERE MUSICIANS
Both come from a musical ancestry. Shilkret inherits the natural gift for music from a musical father, Mariani comes by it just as naturally, for his father was one of the best-known violin teachers in Uruguay.

During rehearsal Shilkret will pick up any of the instruments and show the player exactly how he wants the music played. Not that he himself is any better on that particular piece, but that he knows enough about it to actually play it as he would want it heard.

My father knew every instrument," Shilkret explains. "There are four boys and one girl in our family, and all boys are musical. In fact, my brother Harry is a physician, but he plays the piano and the cornet."

"Jack has been playing piano and cornet for fourteen years. Then there's Louis, who plays the piano and who also is with me, at times."

Thus all four Shilkret brothers may be heard, Nat, of course, through his orchestra, on such NBC programmes as the RCA-Victor Hour, the Mobili Hour, the Eveready Hour and the Kodak Hour.

BEGAN AT EARLY AGE
At the age of five, Shilkret's father taught him the clarinet. At seven, he was playing clarinet solos in a seventy-piece boys' orchestra, and since then he made music his chief ambition, despite the fact that during his days at the College of the City of New York he took up civil engineering as his major subject.

At one time during his radio career, which followed a long engagement as musical director for a large phonograph recording company, he directed as many as twenty different orchestras which played every type of music from the classics to jazz. He composed orchestral suites, others for violin and piano, and wrote many classic and popular songs.

"We are gradually getting away from the jazz rhythm," Shilkret says mournfully, "but I am still enthusiastic over its development. It's the American idiom, and my ambition is to help develop it until it becomes a classic in music."

So does Mariani.
"I should like to persuade American composers to devote more of their time to the development of the American rhythm," he says in his Latin-American accent.

Born of Italian parentage in Montevideo, young Mariani arrived in New York ten years ago. Almost immediately he adapted himself to the American jazz style, and now his great ambition is to elevate it toward the classics, just as Shilkret is trying to do.

Mariani has a dynamic temperament. In rehearsal he takes off his coat, looses his vest and collar, and seems to lose himself in the music with the members of his orchestra.

"You can't relax a moment during a programme," he says. "If you do, your men will relax also."

So, by the end of an hour of broadcasting, Mariani is perspiring freely. He looks as tired as he is, but his magnetic smile is still beaming.

WORKS TWELVE HOURS DAILY
As musical director for the NBC, Hugo Mariani is kept busy for twelve hours a day.

"I have had only two Sundays off in the last six months," he says, but without complaint. "I get to work at 10 o'clock in the morning, and get home usually by 1 or 2 o'clock the next morning."

Mariani's orchestra may be heard during the Firestone Hour, the Artists Service Concert, the Mediterranean, and several other individual programmes, but a great deal of his work requires the employment and placement of musicians. Besides, he's the orchestral "pinch hitter" for the NBC, at any time and for any purpose.

For Mariani's shirts and ties are the talk of the artists and his attire is unusual. His favorite shirt is to come to the studios in full evening dress, but with a black shirt and deep yellow tie!

FRENCH REVOLUTION PROVIDES STORY FOR PICTURE COMING HERE

The biggest scene ever attempted in an all-sound picture, using the largest number of players, was photographed during the making of "Captain of the Guard" Universal's romantic and dramatic production of the early French Revolution co-starring Laura La Plante and John Boles, which comes on Monday to the Capitol Theatre for a six-day run. More than 8,000 men were used to make up the Royalists and Revolutionary armies in the huge battle scenes directed by John Robertson. Sam De Grasse, James Marcus, Lionel Belmore, Stuart Holmes, Evelyn Hall, Richard Cramer, George Hackathorne and other screen favorites are prominent in the supporting roles.

BRILLIANT CAST IN "HAPPY DAYS" AT THE DOMINION

"Happy Days," a stimulating all-talking all-singing and dancing production in which the best known stars of the stage and screen appear, began an engagement at the Dominion Theatre yesterday. It is a Fox Movietone romance with dazzling ensembles, many new song hits and an intriguing love story. It is the biggest picture of the year.

Prominent in the ensemble of 100 entertainers are Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe, Walter Catlett, George Jessel, William Collier Sr., Ed Brende, Marjorie White, Frank Richardson, Warner Baxter, "Whispering" Jack Smith, Lew Bruce, Ann Pennington, George MacFarlane, Sam Piccola, Dixie Lee, James J. Corbett, Richard Keene, Charles E. Evans, David Rollins, Sharon Lynn, J. Harold Murray and George Olsen and his Music.

"GREEN GODDESS" WITH ARLISS TO SHOW NEXT WEEK

"The Green Goddess," the first of a series of all-talking Vitaphone productions which the notable star, George Arliss, is making for Warner Bros. and which will be shown at the Dominion Theatre all next week, was one of the most successful plays ever produced on the legitimate stage. Critics agreed that it was a faultlessly constructed melodrama, and it attracted large and enthusiastic audiences at every performance during its long run.

When the Vitaphone version of "The Green Goddess" was completed recently at the Warner studio, George Arliss accomplished his 1210th performance of the play. This melodrama of the Far East is one of Mr. Arliss's best known stage vehicles. The illustrious actor appeared in it in England and the United States for several successive seasons, during which time it drew critical approbation and broke box office records.

Alfred E. Green directed this screen version of William Archer's play and Mr. Arliss is supported by a popular cast including Alice Joyce, H. B. Warner and Ralph Forbes.

CAPITOL FEATURE

Prodigious evidence of Bebe Daniels' versatility is seen in her second all-talking Radio starring picture, "Love Comes Along," now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

Her golden voice, which is termed the most startling sensation of the year in "Rio Rita," again is heard. In addition, she plays the guitar and dances a Spanish tango with exceptional skill.

Bebe also designed her own costumes for the production. Being of Spanish descent herself, she helped Rupert Julian, director, to infuse the right tempo into the play. Its locale is a mythical island off the coast of South America. More than once she was called upon to give the correct pronunciation of a Spanish word.

Appearing opposite Miss Daniels is Lloyd Hughes, who makes his talkies debut in "Love Comes Along."
